

ORGANIZED LABOR WILL RAISE FUNDS FOR STRIKING MINERS

To Finance the Strike on Account of Strike Fund Being Tied Up by Restraining Order

Attorney General Palmer Thinks Climax of Strike Will be Reached by Saturday

RALPH COUCH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Confidential reports at the White House today encouraged the belief among government officials that the striking miners are looking with more favor on President Wilson's offer of arbitration. Reiteration of arbitration offered by Secretary Tumulty and Attorney General Palmer yesterday and by Tumulty again today, is believed to have had a good psychological effect it was stated at the White House.

The government is ready to start arbitration proceedings the moment the operators and miners give the word of acceptance. A list of names from which the arbitration commission would be selected is before the president.

The government now considers it best to play a waiting game in hope that the two sides in the coal controversy will show a spirit of conciliation was indicated by the fact that the weekly cabinet meeting was called off for today. Mr. Palmer, who is directing the government effort to end the strike was one of several at the cabinet meeting who left Washington to vote. Secretary Tumulty did not go to New Jersey to vote.

Operators here today gathered new figures on the number of men at work in various mines. According to figures issued yesterday non-union mines are in full blast and fifteen union mines resumed work in West Virginia. Edgar Wallace, Washington representative of the miners, today denied that the strike is beginning to break.

Washington, Nov. 4—Organized labor throughout the country is preparing to extend financial assistance to the thousands of coal miners on strike whose fund is tied up by the restraining order by Judge Anderson, according to information received by labor men today.

Reports of plans to help the miners began to arrive. Every union man will do his share to prevent the miners being starved into surrender said Shepherd, president of the railroad conductors. Leaders made light of the report that the strike has begun to disintegrate.

Tonnage being mined by non-union men is a small percentage of the demand of the country. Labor chiefs claims today asserted that reports even of operators showed practically all mines closed in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio and that ships are being held at the Atlantic ports for lack of coal.

The government through the railroad administration is commandeering the coal in transit for rationing to schools and hospitals. Nearly one hundred cars were taken in the Pittsburgh yards.

Attorney General Palmer, before leaving for his home in Pennsylvania near Harrisburg, where he will make a speech today, expressed the opinion that the climax of the strike would come before Saturday.

Palmer cancelled a number of speaking engagements to be able to give his attention to the strike situation.

Mr. Palmer and Asst. Atty. Gen. Ames are preparing the government case in the injunction suit to be heard Saturday. At that time Judge Anderson will decide whether the temporary restriction order shall be made permanent.

Miners are said to be negotiating with Wm. McAdoo to assist them in handling their side of the case.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4—Establishment of lightless nights to conserve the supply of coal was the plans of the Indianapolis special service commission.

Miners Out to a Man

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 4—Striking coal miners in the Indiana district are still out to a man, union leaders claimed today.

Lewis Makes Statement

J. L. O'SULLIVAN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 4—John L. Lewis, acting president of the United Mine Workers today for the first time broke the silence he has maintained since the strike of bituminous coal miners called last Friday night. He said:

"The machinery of the joint system of bargaining in mine regions is intact. It would be a simple matter for the government and coal operators to again set in motion the negotiation of a wage agreement."

The statement was issued when Lewis was questioned regarding the report of the quick end of the strike. It can be stated definitely that Lewis is in communication with Samuel Gompers and W. Stone, labor leaders, in regard to the strike settlement.

If the strike is settled it will be through the instrumentality of the United Mine Workers of America union leaders have maintained.

Mail reaching the miners headquarters is made up chiefly of suggestions to end the strike. It comes from people of every walk of life. Any plans to operate the mines under present conditions would be foolhardy said the secretary-treasurer of the Indiana Operator Association today.

Government Adopt Waiting Policy

The government today had apparently adopted a waiting policy regarding the coal strike and believed both sides soon would show a spirit of conciliation. Unofficial reports at the White House led government officials to believe the miners are looking more favorably on President Wilson's arbitration offer reiterated by Secretary Tumulty.

Providing a meeting of miners and operators is not arranged in the meantime it was assumed the new industrial conference would discuss the coal strike as well as the steel situation.

Union officials vigorously denied the operators' claim that in addition to every non-union mine being worked to capacity, operations had been resumed in fifteen West Virginia mines called in the initial stages of the strike.

With the miners benefit fund tied up by federal injunction organized labor was planning to extend financial aid to miners now estimated at $445,000.

The government continues to commandeer the coal supply. In Indiana the public safety commission was expected to re-establish the "lightless nights" if necessary. Some cities report that the pinch of the coal shortage is felt.

Schools Closed—Lack Coal

Billings, Mont., Nov. 4—The public schools were closed today on account of the coal famine resulting from the strike of miners.

Fifteen days would be allowed the commission for a direct attempt to negotiate a settlement.

Election Being Watched in Four States

President Especially Interested in the New Jersey Election for Governor

(By United Press)

Washington, Nov. 4—Elections in four states were being watched with close interest by administration officials and congressmen.

At the White House special attention was being paid to the contest in New Jersey, the home of President Wilson, where Edward I. Edwards, state senator, democrat, was a candidate for governor in opposition to Newton K. Bugbee, republican, and state comptroller. In other states the elections were:

Maryland for governor: Harry Nice, republican vs. A. C. Ritchie, democrat.

Mass. for governor: Calvin Coolidge incumbent republican vs. Richard H. Long, democrat.

Kentucky for governor: James D. Black incumbent democrat vs. E. P. Morrow republican.

Mississippi also was voting for governor but a democratic victory was conceded. Attention was also riveted on the wet and dry election in Ohio.

Democratic Pres- idential Possibil- ities Discussed

President Wilson Will Not be a Candidate for Re-election it is Stated

HUGH BAILLIE,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, Nov. 4—Presidential possibilities were talked of in Washington today. In the national capitol the men caused a wide discussion. For democrats were A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general, and W. G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury.

President Wilson will not be a third term candidate but will not enter the campaign even to give his backing to any one of the aspirants. He will keep his hands off.

W. J. Daniels is said to be interested in the proposed candidacy of Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy as a dry candidate. Champ Clark has many supporters. Gov. Cox of Ohio will probably have a state delegation with him. Senator Pomerene and Senator Underwood are both in the "first division" of presidential possibilities.

HUNTERS IN FIRE ON GULL LAKE

Gasoline Laden Water in Boat Caught on Fire and Flames Threaten Hunting Party

BEAT IT OUT WITH COATS

Near-Tragedy Took Place in Middle of Gull Lake in Snowstorm. Battled Till Exhausted

Fighting a motor boat fire in mid-lake, and beating out the flames with their coats, was the experience not relished by a party of hunters on Gull lake.

A. M. Larson, on shore, was powerless to help his comrades. The fire started, said Larson, when Rupert Johnson, a barber, who owned the launch, lit a piece of waste to heat up an oil cup on the engine. Fire fell to the bottom of the boat where gasoline was floating on water and the film of gasoline was soon aflame.

Johnson and his comrades, Art Johnson and Otis H. Wells, took off their hunting coats and beat the flames. Johnson sinned his eyebrows and lost considerable hair burned. The oil laden water splashed against the sides of the boat and frequently set the woodwork on fire. At last when nearly exhausted, they extinguished the fire.

A snowstorm was raging at the time and the hunters paddled ashore through wind and waves.

FAD FOR KNITTED SWEATERS

Hip-Ruffling Warmers, the Exclusive of Yesterday, Become the Commonplace of Today.

Only a very few weeks ago there was a prediction on the part of those who were in the vanguard of fashion for knitted sweaters that ruffled just below the waist and showed a sleeve that was baggy just above the wrist. They were worn by the most exclusive, it was said; and at the resorts who might see them worn by those who hunted the most expensive hotels or who dwelt in the most palatial of cottages. But now—these hip-ruffling sweaters are as common and as usual as enormous ear horns. Every other young girl that leaves shop or office for her little two weeks vacation either takes that sort of sweater with her or knits one while she is away. And so it is. The exclusive of yesterday becomes the commonplace of today and the commonplace of today finds its place in the mission box of tomorrow.

Stocks and Jabots.

High lace or net stocks are no longer a novelty, but are more varied and numerous than ever. And there are many high models, also in embroidered linen, with cravat and jabot or yoke-like sections. Few of these, however, are really practical or becoming. There are new high stocks of white washable satin, with vestees attached, which button straight down the front, with a single row of small, white satin buttons. Lace of the coarse mesh variety, such as filet and Cluny, make charming little collars, usually in sailor's shape, for a round or square neck.

NEW FORM OF IRON RELIEVES STOMACH TROUBLES

Eat What You Like—Stop Suffering From Acid Stomach—Gas, Pains and Other Forms of Indigestion—Results Almost Immediately

For years physicians have been searching for a form of iron that could be combined with certain other ingredients like pepsin, etc., for use in treating chronic disorders of the digestive tract, mal-assimilation etc., etc. This is sufficient evidence that medicine recognizes the great value of iron for stomach troubles when administered in proper form. If you have been disappointed with lack of results from pills and tonics said to contain iron you can now understand that the iron was not presented in a form that could be absorbed by the stomach into the system. And therefore could not possibly bring you benefit. This new form of iron is not prepared by chemists—it is found in Nature itself combined with other highly beneficial medicinal agents. It is quickly absorbed by the system and in sufficient measure to bring results that you can feel in a very short time. Just ask your druggist for Acid Iron Mineral. He will also tell you that stomach troubles are relieved by taking a spoonful in a glass of water three times a day. And for acute conditions like "sour stomach" etc., a single dose will in most cases bring relief. This natural form of iron seems to neutralize the excess acid in the stomach as nothing else in medicine. Stomach disorders of long standing where the patient is subject to distress after eating, gulping, headaches, dizziness, etc., yield positively to steady treatment with Acid Iron Mineral. And don't forget that the general system is strengthened and invigorated owing to the iron content of this great medicine. All druggists cheerfully refund the purchase price if the results are not satisfactory to you in every way.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

CALL INAUGURATED

Workers in Third Call Not Daunted by Blustery, Cold Winter Weather in Brainerd

HEADQUARTERS ARE BUSY

Branches are Enthusiased, Hoped that $6,000 Will be Gained in Crow Wing County

November winds and bluster did not dampen the ardor of Red Cross workers Monday, the opening day of the annual roll call. The Red Cross Reserves, under the supervision of Mrs. E. J. Quinn and her assistants, were out early and began the canvas of the resident and business districts of the city with the result that at evening tide, a considerable amount had been collected in and a number of homes and individuals registered as 100% Red Cross advocates.

Soldier's Endorsement

At the Best theatre, E. J. Hathaway, who knows from experience as a soldier in France just what the Red Cross has done and is doing in the work of humanity it has undertaken, gave a four-minute talk in behalf of the drive. He met with a cordial reception from the audience and his remarks carried conviction with them.

System Marks Drive

The down town headquarters at the Woodhead Motor Company offices is a busy place. The manner in which the drive is being conducted indicates that no mistake was made in the selection of the committee chairman and those who are assisting them. Everything spells "system", from the assignment of localities to the different solicitors to the receipt of collections and the recording of the same. A receipt is given each collector when monies are turned in and the collector in turn lists the name, address of each donor. These lists are turned in at Red Cross chapter headquarters and a receipt issued for the full amount, this being in duplicate in order to afford a basis for an audit.

Individual Receipts

Individual receipts will later be issued from headquarters of the local chapter to each donor. If you do not receive this, make application for it, as the records are being kept in such manner as to be able to trace each and every donor. The work of issuing 6,000 duplicate receipts, recording the same, and distributing the credits to the national organization and branches and auxiliaries of the Brainerd Chapter is no small task, but it will be carried out with the same careful attention and accuracy as has marked other drives for the Red Cross.

Branches are Working

Messages from some of the larger branches and auxiliaries last evening calling for more supplies, indicated that they are hard at work. The branch or auxiliary which does not register in a good, strong membership, is not doing its duty. Workers should realize that even if the war is over, the work of the Red Cross is not and that they should take an active interest in this drive in order that their community may profit by the work now outlined and to come in any emergency.

Must Go Over Top.

The drive will continue until the 11th, when it will close in the evening and it is hoped a record of at least $6,000 for the county will be established. Crow Wing county has always ranked high in Red Cross activities and every home should be proud of the service window flag, indicating its loyalty and unselfish devotion to the great task before the public in the period of reconstruction. The boys are back, some of them and they need our assistance. Those who sleep the long sleep across the seas expected you and me to keep a loving eye on their families and help them. The man or woman who dodges the issue now the blare of trumpet is over, is worse than a slacker, he or she is an ingrate and a moral coward.

Earliest Mention of Coal.

The earliest mention of coal in the territory now comprised in the United States is recorded in the Journal of Father Hennepin, who in 1679 refers to the site of a "cole" mine on Illinois river, near the present city of Ottawa.

Chinese Typewriter.

One of the most remarkable typewriter writers in the world was the machine especially designed and built for Li Hung Chang, the Chinese statesman. It had 1,800 keys. No dies were available, so the engraving of the type had to be done by hand.

Squaring it.
Some people do odd things for the purpose of getting even.

FOR HOOP SKIRTS

Paris Dressmaker Is Insistent on the Subject.

Pannier Outline, in Exaggerated Form, Also a Specialty—Predict Crinolines for Winter Wear.

Of all the famous Paris dressmakers Callot is the one who is most insistent on the subject of hooped skirts and "barrel" outlines. It is not that one does not see other styles than these chez Callot, only that the pannier outline, even in exaggerated form, is a specialty of the Maison, says a fashion writer.

Take for example the really lovely evening dress. A ball costume made of sapphire-blue tulle with a wide, stiffened flounce of lace tinted to match the silk. This model was really simple in detail but essentially decorative and "tres Callot."

The corsage was cut in a deep V back and front, and the sleeves were nonexistent, chains of sapphire beads falling gracefully over the upper arms. Of embroideries there were none and this is an unexpected happening in this day of elaborate, hand-worked decorations. The top of the dress was very full and gathered at the waist, but the silk was so soft and supple that there was no appearance of bulkiness.

Then the deep lace flounce was gathered and set on with a heading and underneath there was a slip of dull silver tulle finely plaited. This slip-skirt did not show at all, except through the meshes of the lace flounce as the latter almost reached the ankles.

It is said, and confidently, that next winter we shall find crinolines worn again. This I do not believe; at least I do not believe they will be worn by the average woman, though they may make their appearance on the stage, and, perhaps, in certain circles where sensational toilettes are appreciated.

What is certain is that we are drawing nearer and nearer to wider and fuller skirts; to something very like what Paul Irie has called "the barrel outline." And this, when free from exaggeration, is really charming.

Full skirts, made of the most supple stuffs and gathered at the waist, are very comfortable and becoming; also they are easily made. Many of the new casaque-blouses have frills at the sides, over the hips, to give the wide effect; they are quaint and in many cases very pretty.

The Reason.

RED CROSS GIVES FULL ACCOUNTING

War Council Tells How Millions Contributed by Public Were Used For Relief.

BIG TASK IS DESCRIBED

In Twenty Months $154,000,000 Was Spent Overseas and $119,000,000 in the United States.

Washington, (Special).—Through a complete report of the work of the American Red Cross in the war by Chairman Henry P. Davison, on behalf of the war council, the organization on the eve of its annual enrollment of members during the Third Red Cross Roll Call, November 2 to 11, has rendered an accounting of the many millions given it by the American people to help our fighting men and our allies. The statement is, in part, as follows:

"The war council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the war council was in control of its affairs. The war council was appointed May 19, 1919, and went out of existence February 28, 1919.

"It was the practice of the war council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the war council that a report in this summarized form should be made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

"A statement of the American Red Cross effort and finances since the war council relinquished its control will be made to the public through the executive committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that this report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted." Following are certain round figures covering American Red Cross participation in the war, as revealed by the war council's report:

To Daniel C. Roper, as internal revenue commissioner, falls the big job of making the whole of the United States bone dry. I profess no special partiality for any critic, who, holding balance in hand, weighs eagerly whatsoever of learning comes to his counter. Still it must be admitted that these balance men are not without their usefulness, being convenient for appraising market values.—A. Bronson Alcott.

"Kitchen Middens."

Kitchen middens are great mounds, some 100 feet long and 250 feet wide, found in Denmark, England, Scotland, France and in parts of Europe, North and South America and Australia. They are supposed to be the refuse heaps of prehistoric periods, and are composed chiefly of oyster, periwinkle, cockle and mussel shells. In them are found implements of wood, stone, bones of animals and cinders.

AMUSEMENTS

"UP IN MABEL'S ROOM"

Best Comedy Seen at Park Theatre in a Decade, Amusing Situations Galore

"Up in Mabel's Room" at the Park theatre Sunday night, proved the best comedy seen there in a decade. Played by a most capable company surrounding that star comedian, Sager Midgley, "Up in Mabel's Room" proved itself a play whose every line carried original thought, wit, humor and a punch.

In three acts, the comedy revolves about a chemist, a rose pink one, which one Garry Almsworth (Sager Midgley) in a moment of youthful love emotion and mental aberration gave to a Mabel Essington (Julie Ring), shortly before her marriage to another.

Garry later is married to Geraldine and then the fun begins as the widow teases him by threatening to show the chemist to his wife. To make matters worse, the chemist carries in bold embroidery the legend: "From Garry to Mabel."

One occasionally runs across a farce-comedy which accumulates its laughs by building up situations and ringing in the laugh at stated intervals. But in "Up in Mabel's Room" is a continuous succession of laughs induced either by clever lines, scenery or stage business.

And the gowns were superb. The second act in Mabel's room revealed the widow and her feminine friends in the house party garbed in some of the prettiest lingerie ever seen on or off the stage.

Wilson Collison surely tapped a new well of humor when he wrote his farce. It is original and does not have to lean on any French superstructure or revamped tale of the classics.

Every man and woman in the cast at the Park Sunday night was letter perfect. We hope to see them here again soon.

"Yankee Doodle in Berlin"

It makes no difference to Mack Sennett where they come from or what they have been doing. If they are beautiful enough and shapely enough he makes bathing girls of them.

In the list of young women on the payroll of his studio in Los Angeles are girls from every section of the United States and, almost, from every walk of life, from society buds to check room girls.

In the group of girls chosen to go on tour with "Yankee Doodle in Berlin" and who will be seen at the New Park theatre next Thursday, Nov. 6, for an engagement of three performances, 2:30, 7:00 and 9:00 p. m., will be found a fair representation of this diversity of employment and social status. Two of the girls come from families of wealth and the weekly salary they receive means little to them. One calls New York City her home and the other was born and spent most of her years in Chicago, though both now have homes in Los Angeles. Of the others two were born in California, one in Texas, one in Maine, one in Colorado, two in Canada and one in Minnesota. Three have never been employed except in the Sennett studios and the others, prior to their engagement by Mr. Sennett, were stenographers, clerks, beach employees and one was an elevator operator.

Cutting the Corners

IN discussing the Standard Oil Company, a well-known lawyer said: "The underlying causes of whatever trouble this organization may have had are to be found in its efficiency and its advanced methods, which make competition difficult. As a producer and distributor of petroleum products the Standard Oil Company leads the world."

It is a matter of pride to those responsible to the 4649 stockholders that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been able to so operate its business as to insure a maximum production of useful products at a minimum of cost, and it has always been the policy of the Company to sell its products to the consumer at a minimum price.

During the past five years when the industries of the world have been disorganized by war, and the cost of production has been increased tremendously, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by reason of its advanced methods has been able to keep the price of petroleum products at so low a point that the people of America can afford to use the output of the Company in ever increasing quantities, while elsewhere in the world only the wealthy can enjoy the comforts of these commodities.

This condition has been brought about by largely increased facilities, and by careful conservation of raw materials.

Thus, in spite of tremendous increases in cost of crude oil and labor, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has been able to fulfill its obligations in a manner satisfactory and beneficial to the stockholder, the employee and the public.

DISTRICT COURT OPENS SESSION

Judge B. F. Wright Charged Grand Jury, Selected J. J. Tucker as its Foreman

WM. C. DEERING NAMED CLERK

Various Motions Heard by the Court, Preliminary Call Followed—Petit Jury Meets Wednesday

The November term of the district court opened Tuesday with Judge B. F. Wright of Park Rapids presiding. Judge Wright delivered the formal charge to the grand jury which met at 10 o'clock and selected as foreman, J. J. Tucker of Fort Ripley. Mr. Tucker is a prominent merchant and postmaster of Fort Ripley and at one time was a county commissioner.

The jury retired and selected as its clerk, Wm. C. Deering of Crosby. Mr. Deering is in the lumber business in the range town. The jury is composed of 18 members, several having been excused.

The court then ordered a preliminary call of the calendar, following which various motions were heard.

The petit jury meets Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock and as no citizenship petitions will be heard in November, it is expected that the trial of cases will commence on Wednesday.

SPECIAL ELECTION SET FOR DEC. 8TH

To Vote on Amendments to Charter Providing an Emergency Fund of 3 Mills for City

COUNCIL TOOK ACTION MONDAY

So Much Business up that an Adjournment was Taken to Wednesday Evening, Nov. 5

The city council held its regular meeting Monday evening, all being present except Aldermen Lyons and Rasch. So much business came up that the council later took an adjournment to Wednesday evening, November 5.

Charter Amendment

Mayor F. E. Little appeared before the council and presented the amendment proposed to the charter which provides among other things an emergency fund levy of three mills. The amendment was read and received by the council and the special election, at which the voters are to express their decision in the matter, was set for December 8. Publication of amendment and notice of coming special election was ordered by the council.

Tax Levy for Next Year

All voted aye to the resolution on the tax levy of 20 mills for next year. This was apportioned as follows: Interest fund, 2.12 mills; sinking fund, .75 mills; public safety, 4 mills; library, half a mill; park fund, .63 mill; street and sewer, half a mill; permanent improvement, 3 mills; musical entertainment, half a mill; hydrant rental, street lighting and electric power fund, 3 mills; general fund, 4 mills, being a total of 20 mills.

Finance Committee.

H. F. Michael, chairman of the finance committee, made a statement on the finances of the city. The general fund, said he, unless action required was taken, would be short $800 to $1000, and that was one of the causes for more money needed to conduct affairs of the city. A thousand feet of fire hose costing about $1,800 was required by the fire department. The council had been asked an appropriation of $600 towards maintenance of the school and city nurse. In 1920-1921 estimated receipts of the city would be $5,984.42 and the general fund expenses would amount to $8,007.60.

The charter should be printed. The city ordinances were in bad shape. They should be compiled and codified, said Mr. Michael, but that action was impossible, because of lack of funds.

Municipal Ice House

Henry Clarke addressed the council on a municipal ice house, municipal fuel yard, on building more homes in Brainerd. He claimed if private enterprise could not provide houses for renting to the increasing population, that the city should step in.

Street Laborers Wage Increase

The request of street laborers working on water main digging asking for a wage increase from 45c to 50c an hour was considered. The water and light board addressed a communication to the council on the subject. The board recommended a 9 hour day with time and a half for over time of the additional hour. This would give the laborers an increase from $3.60 to $4.28 per day. Because of the advanced season and the necessity of pushing the work to completion, they recommended the plan named.

"We deem it inadvisable," said the communication in closing, "for several reasons to establish a rate of more than 45c an hour because it throws out of balance a schedule involving many more men than those asking for the increase; also because of limited funds for doing the work planned, we must continue by careful methods first established to practice economy on all occasions in wages and prices paid for materials."

Against Recommendation

Andrew Pelo, spokesman of the laborers on strike, did not like the plan suggested.

Others Heard

Several aldermen said 50c an hour was all right, providing capable men were hired. Alderman A. G. Anderson favored leaving it in the hands of the city engineer with power to act.

Board Invited

On motion of Alderman Andrew Anderson, seconded by Alderman Koop, carried, the water and light board was invited to the joint session Wednesday evening, November 5, to thresh out the question and agree on a course of action.

Fire Department Supplies

Chief McGinn asked for certain supplies at the Northeast Brainerd hose house and it was referred to the fire committee for action.

City Task

The war department asked if Brainerd's fire department wanted an army gas masks at $5 each and on motion one was ordered by way of experiment to be used by the fire department.

The report of Miss Ethel Beyer, city and school nurse, was read and ordered filed.

To Pour or Not to Pour

City Engineer Campbell spoke on completing the cement bowl of the water tower now or granting the contractors an extension of time. This was also referred to the water and light board to decide by Wednesday.

Alderman Strickler Leaves

President Strickler left before the close of the session and Vice President Michael took the chair. Routine bills were allowed, including various estimates on work under construction by contractors. W. S. Hewett of Minneapolis was allowed on such estimate $2,822.55 on the water tower and tank.

Committees

The purchasing committee was allowed further time on its report. John Kukko offered $25 for the city sleigh and box. No action was taken. The city clerk was instructed to advertise for sale the city's wagon and box, set of sleighs and two boxes.

At the next council meeting it is proposed to map out streets to be paved so that the city engineer will be enabled to get up a definite program for street improvement.

A street light was ordered placed in the center of the wagon bridge on the Mississippi.

Victor Hendrickson was granted increased pay to take care of Mrs. Moberg.

David M. Holbrook took over the peace time work of the Home Service department of the Northern Division of the American Red Cross at the time when the neighbors of soldiers' families rose up and asked: "Can't we have some of this Red Cross home service, too?"

Convention Plans Assuming Shape Give Promise of Largest Attendance in its History

PRACTICAL DISCUSSIONS UP

Splendid Exhibit of Farm Implements, Potato Exhibits—Boys' and Girls' Potato Contests

Everything is in readiness for the annual convention and potato show of the Northern Minnesota Development association to be held in Duluth on November 12-13-14 in the new armory building and advices from that city indicate that this will be without question the largest potato exhibit ever held under the auspices of this organization.

To Aid Settlers

The program is replete with practical discussions on topics vital to the development of northern Minnesota and covers a wide latitude. The N. M. D. A. officials take the position that its work should not only include securing settlers for northern Minnesota, but promoting their success along agricultural lines as well after they are here and with this in mind, the committee has arranged for the discussion of subjects pertinent to the interests of every settler in this section, and they should make it a point to attend.

Exhibit of Machinery

A splendid exhibit of farm implements and especially those used in the planting, cultivation, digging and marketing has been arranged for and space taken in the large Armory by twelve prominent manufacturers and distributors of potato machinery, plows, planters and diggers, as well as companies handling explosives for land-clearing. This will be an important and interesting feature of the convention. The sheep industry in northern Minnesota has not been forgotten and an exhibit of wool will be put on by the Patrick Co. of Duluth.

Aristocratic Tubers

There will be 15 tables of potato exhibits, each 36 feet long and the very best samples of tubers will be shown. The Boys' and Girls' potato contest, always a big feature of the N. M. D. A. convention, will be unusually interesting this year and a large number of entries have been made. This exhibit will be larger than ever this year. The University of Minnesota will put on a plant disease exhibit and show how to prevent potato diseases.

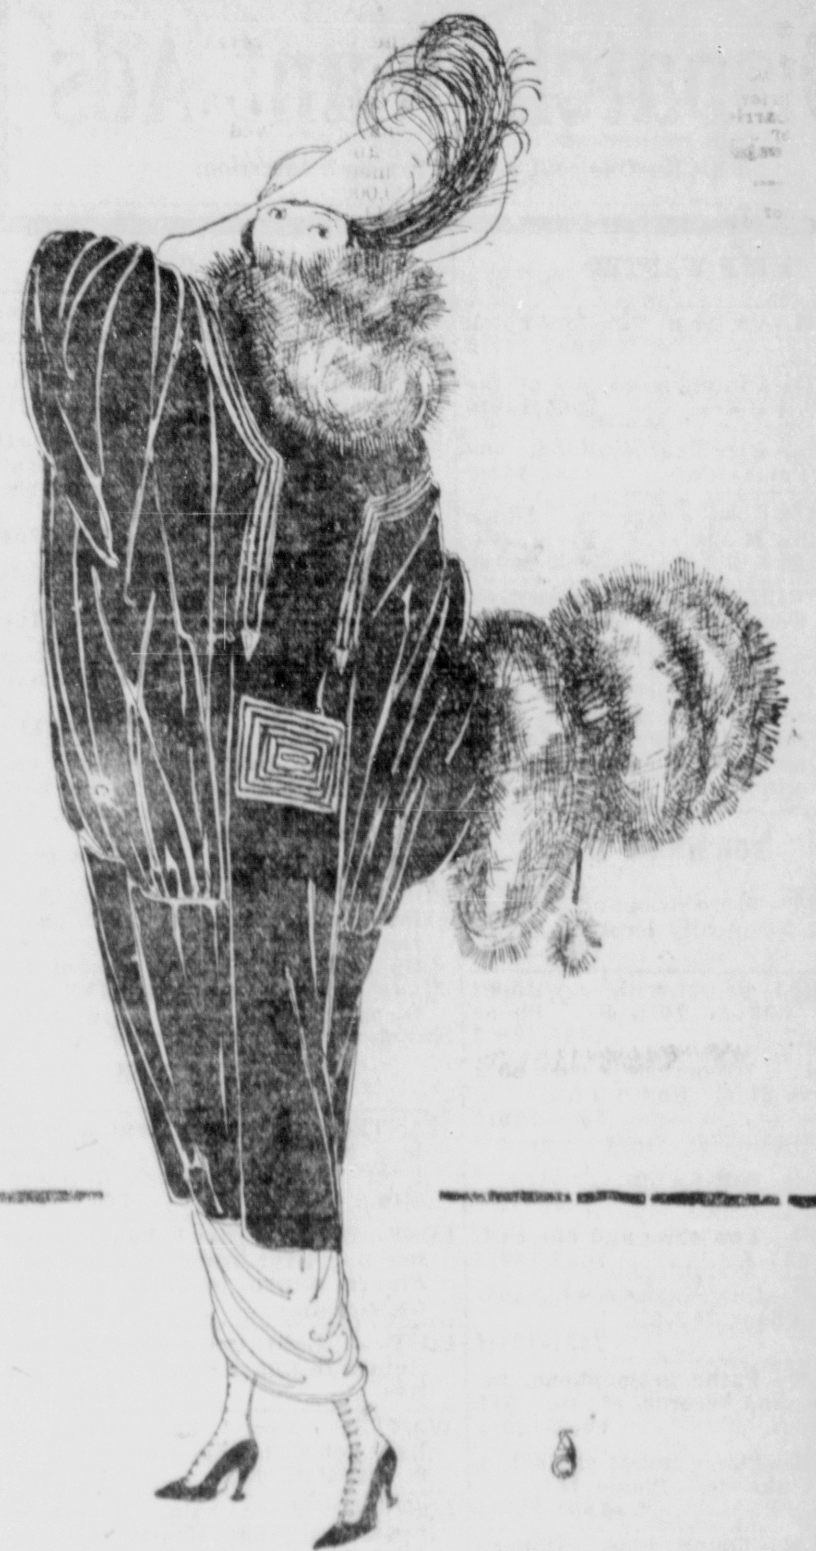

A potato menu caterer will be conducted in the Armory. With a splendid program and a list of prominent speakers arranged for and the big potato and machinery exhibit as drawing features for the coming convention, it seems certain to be the most important gathering in development work in northern Minnesota this winter, and advices from Duluth indicate that hotel accommodations are already being secured with the prospects for a record-breaking attendance.

ACCOUNTANTS GET GOOD SALARIES

Within a few days the Dakota Business College, Fargo, N. D., was twice called on by big firms to recommend accountants for lucrative positions. Graduates of this school are much in demand.

G. E. Wagner, a former D. B. C. student was sent to the Rupert-Warner Insurance Agency at $125 a month. P. J. Hornbacher, another D. B. C. ex-pupil, went to Sterns Candy Co. (Wholesale) of Valley City, at $120 to start.

Professor H. Strauss, M. D., of the Royal Charity Hospital, says, "The cause for an attack of gout, rheumatism, lumbago, is supplied by the increase of uric acid in the blood serum, the result of various causes, the most frequent of which is renal. Before an attack, one suffers sometimes from headache, neuralgia, twinges of pain here and there." When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, when the back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; when you suffer with lurching headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach; or you have rheumatic pains or lumbago, gout, sciatica when the weather is bad, do not neglect the warning, but try simple means. Take six or eight changes of water during the day, then obtain at your nearest drug store "An-uric" (anti-uric acid). This is the discovery of Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. "An-uric" is an antidote for this uric acid poisoning and dissolves uric acid in the body much as hot coffee dissolves sugar. "An-uric" will penetrate into the joints and muscles, and dissolve the poisonous accumulations. It will stamp out toxins. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., for trial package.

Fear in the Child.

Evil Always to Be Fought.

For Dull Mirrors.

If mirrors be very dull and speckled, the following method is excellent: Take a small portion of whiting and add sufficient cold tea to make a paste; rub the glass with warm tea, dry with a soft cloth; rub a little of the paste well on the mirror and polish dry with tissue paper.

BUDGET SYSTEM IS APPROVED BY HOUSE

EITHER THAT BILL OR ONE OF ITS OWN WILL BE PASSED BY THE SENATE SOON.

WHY THE CHANGE IS NEEDED

Provisions of the Existing Law for Estimating and Controlling Appropriations Result in Extravagance, Inefficiency and Duplication.

By JAMES P. HORNADAY.

Washington.—The house of representatives has gone on record in favor of a national budget system. As soon as the senate can reach the subject it will either approve the house bill, or pass one more to its liking and let a conference committee perfect the legislation. In order thoroughly to understand the objects of the proposed legislation it is necessary to consider the provisions of existing law governing the formation and transmittal of estimates for appropriations as well as the supervision and control of expenditures after the appropriations have been made. Under the law it is made the duty "of the heads of the several executive departments, and of such other officers authorized or required to make estimates, to furnish to the secretary of the treasury, on or before the 15th day of October of each year, their annual estimates for the public service, to be included in the book of estimates prepared by law under his direction."

The act of March 4, 1909, provides that immediately on the receipt of the regular annual estimates of appropriations needed for the various branches of the government it shall be the duty of the secretary of the treasury to estimate as nearly as may be the revenues of the government for the ensuing fiscal year, and if the estimates for appropriations, including the estimated amount necessary to meet all continuing and permanent appropriations shall exceed the estimated revenues, the secretary of the treasury shall transmit the estimate to congress and at once transmit a detailed statement of all estimates to the president.

Defects in Present System.

The basic defects in this system are these: Expenditures are not considered in connection with revenues; congress does not require of the president any carefully thought-out financial program representing what provision in his opinion should be made for meeting the financial needs of the government; the estimates of expenditure needs now submitted to congress represent only the desires of the individual departments, establishments, and bureaus; and these requests have been subjected to no superior revision with a view to bringing them into harmony with one another, to eliminating duplication of organization or activities, or making them, as a whole, conform to the needs of the nation as represented by the condition of the treasury and prospective revenues.

Under the law it is the practice for the head of each executive department to designate the chief of each bureau under his control to estimate the expenditure needs of his bureau. When all the estimates of the bureau chiefs in a given department are sent to the head of that department, he in turn submits his estimates to the secretary of the treasury. The various bureau chiefs act independently. Bureaus of executive departments doing similar work are thus stimulated to a rivalry and so far as the estimates go, very little effort has been made to coordinate the activities of the several departments and bureaus, and in practice this method has resulted in extravagance, inefficiency and duplication of service.

Creates Bureau of the Budget.

The bill the house has passed creates in the office of the president a bureau of the budget, with a director at $10,000 per year and an assistant director at $7,500 per year. These officials are to be appointed by the president. No person appointed by the director is to be paid a salary in excess of $5,000 a year, and not more than three persons appointed by him are to be paid a salary at that rate. All employees in the bureau whose compensation is less than $5,000 a year are to be appointed from a list of eligibles furnished by the civil service commission. The bill provides that the bureau of the budget shall assist the president in the preparation of the budget, and when it is so prepared the president shall transmit the budget to congress, and that the several executive departments shall submit their estimates to the president, instead of to the secretary of the treasury as now required by law.

The bill further provides that the president shall transmit the budget to congress on the first day of each regular session after the 31st of December, 1919; that the budget shall contain balanced statements of the revenues and expenditures of the government for the preceding fiscal year and of the resources and liabilities of the treasury at the close of the year, together with his estimates of the revenues and expenditures of the government for the current year and of the resources and liabilities of the treasury at the close of the year, and also his estimates of the revenues and expenditure needs of the government for the ensuing fiscal year, and how in his opinion these needs should be met.

Lavender Smokers.

Long before tobacco was known or smoked, sweet lavender was a favorite smoking mixture. Pipes have been dug up in Roman settlements, adorned with base-reliefs picturing the lavender plant. From which it is surmised that the Romans smoked lavender, which, according to writers of the time, is said to produce a feeling "active, ardent, and vigorous."

Only One.

A little girl had a twin brother and sister. Now, she was used to the cat having kittens and only one of the kittens family being kept. So when her father brought the twins down to show her she gazed at them earnestly for a small space of time, then said, "Daddy, I think we'd better keep that one!" Pointing, as she thought, to the prettier one!

To Remove Ink Stains.

Ink stains on white fabrics can be removed with peroxide of hydrogen. Drop it on the stain with a medicine dropper or, if it is a large spot, pour it on slowly from a spoon. As this preparation has a bleaching effect, great care must be exercised if used on colored materials.

She Had a Different Ambition.

When William Wilberforce, the reformer, was a candidate for parliament his sister, an amiable and witty young lady, offered him the compliment of a new gown to each of the wives of those freemen who voted for her brother, on which she was saluted with a cry of "Miss Wilberforce forever!" when she pleasantly observed: "I thank you, gentlemen, but I cannot agree with you; for really I do not wish to be Miss Wilberforce forever!"

Criticism and Citizenship

It is the plain, public duty of every citizen to criticize proposed government measures believed to be harmful.

Swift & Company is in a better position perhaps, than others, to understand the meat packing business in all its relations to public and private interests, even though the others may have been giving the subject a great deal of sincere attention.

Swift & Company is convinced that interference with its legitimate business function by governmental agencies, however well intentioned, would be an injury to every man, woman and child who wants meat to eat, as well as to the men who raise the meat and to those who dress and distribute it.

Maximum service that cannot monopolize because of keen competition and lack of control over sources of supply is furnished at a minimum of profit—a fraction of a cent per pound from all sources.

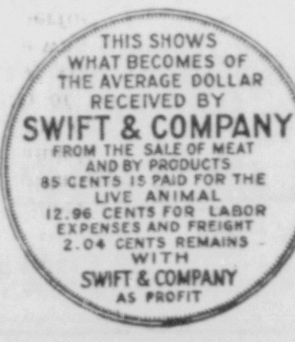

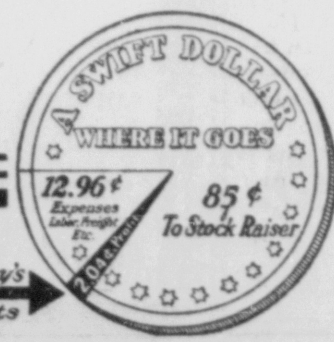

Therefore Swift & Company is taking every legitimate step of citizenship to prevent such interference.

These advertisements are intended to help you, and to help Congress decide what is best to be done. Mistakes are costly and apt to be harmful in these trying times.
